PRICE PERFORMANCE

Randstad's IT business, a balanced acquisition

LTM has proposed to acquire Randstad's Tech and Consulting Services business for EUR160mn (~0.3x EV/sales). The acquisition strengthens LTM's presence across Europe and Australia, and in key verticals of Aero, Defence, Auto and Utilities. The transaction also includes a five-year IT services deal to set up Randstad's India GCC and strategic talent MSP collaboration with the parent company.

The acquisition adequately addresses white space in LTM's portfolio, but its declining revenue profile raises bit of a concern. The small size ensures no big impact on earnings or balance sheet. Overall, a decent acquisition. We await regulatory approvals to integrate it into our estimates. Maintain 'BUY' with TP of INR6,200 valuing at 25x FY28E PE.

To acquire Randstad's Tech and Consulting business at ~0.3x EV/sales

LTM has offered to acquire Randstad's Tech and Consulting Services business across France, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and Australia, for an EV of EUR160mn on a cash-free, debt-free basis subject to customary closing adjustments. The business generates annual revenue of ~EUR469mn (USD500mn+) and includes ~2,900 onsite and nearshore billable employees with delivery centres in Romania and Portugal. Management highlighted that the seller has rationalised several tail accounts as part of the divestment process (leading to revenue decline in the last two years), which could support smoother transition and integration. Strategically, the transaction strengthens LTM's domain capabilities and regional scale across Aero, Defence, Auto, Utilities and BFSI, also enhancing its presence across Europe and Australia. Europe remains a white space opportunity for the company, with Europe revenues expected to scale to ~USD1.1bn, while Australia could also emerge as a meaningful growth geography. The acquisition is expected to be completed by Q3FY27.

Significant cross sell opportunities; margin and EPS neutral

The acquisition offers minimum overlap of clients with LTM. Client relations span ~7–8 years on an average, indicating strong customer stickiness. The entity's client profile appears quite attractive with top-20 accounts in the EU forming 65% of EU revenue and top-10 accounts in Australia forming 80% of Australia revenue. While there could be a modest near-term revenue and margin impact during account scaling and integration, management expects no material margin dilution in FY27/28. The acquisition is expected to be EPS neutral to accretive. As part of the deal, LTM also gets a five-year IT services deal with Randstad to support its AI-enabled India GCC and global workforce requirements. Furthermore, Randstad will support LTM's expanding global workforce requirements.

Valuation and outlook: Overall well balanced acquisition

The acquisition appears to be decent, addressing white space in LTM's portfolio (diversifying beyond the US), while having a minimum impact on margin and the balance sheet. But for the declining revenue profile, we find the acquisition a good fit for the company. We continue to favour Indian IT companies taking bold M&A decisions, rather than redistributing cash back to shareholders. Maintain 'BUY/SO'.

Investor call takeaways

- LTM has offered to acquire Randstad's Tech and Consulting Services business across France, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and Australia, for an enterprise value of up to EUR160mn.
- The acquired business has a revenue of EUR469mn (USD500mn+). It has been consciously rationalising tail accounts as part of its divestment process, which should support smoother transition and integration. Includes ~2.9k onsite and nearshore billable employees along with delivery centres in Romania and Portugal.
- This acquisition is expected to strengthen LTM's presence across key verticals, including Aero and Defence, Auto, Utilities and BFS, and now has access to very rich domain capabilities. Regional scale and domain capability across aerospace and defence, auto and utilities is a white space for the company.
- The transaction would also expand its regional footprint and client access across Europe and Australia. Australia is a geography and management aspire to reach USD100mn+ for US marquee customers while Europe is a white space geographic opportunity.
- Strengthens LTM's regional scale advantage, taking Europe revenues to ~USD1.1bn while also enhancing scale across APAC. Sovereign AI has been identified as a high growth opportunity area, particularly in Europe. Management is targeting faster growth in the US and other regions through enhanced local delivery capabilities.
- Client relationships span seven–eight years on average, reflecting strong customer stickiness that management aims to retain post integration.
- LTM will also enter into a five-year IT services partnership to support AI-enabled transformation initiatives for Randstad's India GCC, along with a strategic talent MSP engagement to support its expanding global workforce requirements.
- LTM believes the acquisition provides an opportunity to improve efficiency of its existing sub-contracting spend, which has remained elevated.
- Acquisition is expected to improve cross-selling opportunities for LTM's complementary capabilities across Cloud, Data & AI and Enterprise platforms. Complementary capabilities are also expected to support higher wallet share across existing and acquired clients.
- Key strategic objectives include: i) Scaling Europe through focused expansion in key emerging markets, ii) Building a more balanced portfolio across geographies, iii) Strengthening and scaling presence in the Americas region.
- Strategic rationale is driven by both market access and capability enhancement considerations along with delivery talent efficiency. Management plans to largely retain the acquired business as a standalone platform initially, while integrating LTM's broader service capabilities.
- Significant upskilling initiatives have already been undertaken across multiple markets to strengthen capabilities.
- Management indicated onsite margins are healthy, while nearshore gross margins are better than LTM's existing margin profile.

- Management indicated there could be a slight short-term revenue haircut in the acquired entity, while scaling marquee accounts and driving future growth opportunities. Management expects no material margin dilution in FY27 post closure. The company is also putting its integration and efficiency plans in place to maintain margin in FY28.
- Management stated that the acquisition is not expected to be EPS dilutive.
- Top-20 accounts in the EU account for 65% of EU revenue, top-10 accounts in Australia account for 80% of the country’s revenue.

Company Description

LTI and Mindtree were merged to create LTIM in Nov-22. Mr Debashis Chatterjee was appointed as Additional-Director, designated as Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director of the combined entity for a tenure of three years. Mr Vinit Teredesai (CFO, Mindtree) was appointed as CFO of the merged entity.

LTI-Mindtree reported revenue of USD4.3bn in FY24. Merged entity's client portfolio includes more than 700 clients with overlapping limited to just 10-12 clients. LTI-Mindtree employs ~90,000 professionals in more than 30 countries.

Investment Theme

LTIMindtree (LTIM) was born from the merger of two of the fastest growing companies in the Indian IT space—both with strong fundamentals. The union was carefully crafted – detailed to ensure minimal vertical/client overlap and maximal revenue/cost synergies potential. The LTI-Mindtree merger will deepen engagement; hyperscalers to drive significant value. We believe LTI-Mindtree will deliver higher double-digit growth over the next five years with better margins.

With integration of capabilities, LTI-Mindtree will be able to provide end-to-end digital transformation across various industries and geographies. The company will consistently focus on capitalising revenue synergies and costs savings through cross selling and up selling. In the next few years, we see LTIM benefitting from its heft (enabling larger deal wins) and strong positioning in evergreen/growing (BFSI/hitech) and niche (travel) verticals. Cost synergies shall boost margins and favour healthier earnings growth.

Key Risks

Key risks include rapid changes in technology, intense competition in IT services, high dependence on limited clients and adverse exchange rate fluctuations.
