On May 21st, ADMIE Holding announced a fully marketed equity offering of up to €530m (~70% of its current market cap) to fund its pro-rata participation in IPTO's capital increase, the proceeds of which will finance major domestic grid upgrades, the electrification of non-interconnected islands, and key cross-border projects in the Greece-Cyprus Great Sea Interconnector.

We launch our GS ADMIE Holding Hedge Basket (GSCMADMI) as we note potential for volatility in the shares, driven by a mix of micro and macro:

- At the micro level: (1) The offering will result in dilution to existing shareholders; at a share price of €3.55, a €530m raise would imply issuance of approximately 150 mi shares and post-money dilution of approximately 39%. (2) Post-raise, ADMIE Holding will carry incremental obligations at the HoldCo level to fund its IPTO participator create or widen a HoldCo discount to the market value of ADMIE's underlying IPTO stake. (3) The offering follows PPC's €4.5bn capital raise (the largest in Greek market which could either represent a positive read-across for Greek utility paper or raise questions around near-term capacity).
- At the macro level: (4) ECB Governing Council member Alexander Demarco signalled on May 22nd that a June rate hike is probable; a rate increase would represent a he long-duration RAB-based valuations such as ADMIE's. (5) The European Commission's Spring 2026 Forecast projects Greek GDP growth slowing to 1.8% in 2026 from 2. alongside an energy-driven inflation pickup to 3.7%. (6) Greece's next general election is confirmed for 2027, with the government now in the final year of its term; while regulation is largely framework-driven and insulated from electoral cycles, political transition risk is an idiosyncratic factor not present in most comparable European TS investment cases.

The basket is primarily composed of European utilities, complemented by a ~20% allocation to Greek banks to capture domestic exposure, resulting in closer alignment with geographic revenue profile. As a result, GSCMADMI currently has an 80% correlation to ADMIE's beta returns versus 66% for SX6P (Chart 1) and it has consistently maintained correlation to the stock over the last six months. Price performance of the basket has also more closely tracked ADMIE shares relative to SX6P over the last few months (Char basket is capped at a ~13% max weight; it can trade up to ~$140m notional at 20% ADV per day; and it is shortable at near GC levels.
